FILM AND SCHOLAR-LED DISCUSSION

Immigration: Who Belongs?

Cascades Library

Facilitated by Harry Butowsky, PhD • Sundays, November 2, 9, 16 & 23 at 3:00 pm

The question of how America will deal with the tens of thousands of potential new immigrants every year is now much in debate in both the public and private arena. The contemporary stories in these four documentaries illustrate both the challenges and opportunities faced by the latest generation of immigrants to come to America.

Sponsored by the Irwin Uran Gift Fund.

Fear and Learning at Hoover Elementary Sunday, November 2

A documentary by Los Angeles teacher Laura Angelica Simon, exploring Hoover Street Elementary School, where Simon candidly explores the attitudes and emotions of teachers, students and parents, focusing on a ten year old Salvadorian girl.

Lost Boys of Sudan • Sunday, November 9

This feature-length documentary follows two Sudanese refugees from Africa to America. Orphaned as young boys in one of Africa's cruelest civil wars, they survived lion attacks and militia gunfire to reach a refugee camp and from there, they were chosen to come to America. Safe at last from physical danger and hunger, they find themselves confronted with the abundance and alienation of contemporary American suburbia.

Punjabi Cab • Sunday, November 16

Since September 11th 2001, turban-wearing Sikhs in America have endured harassment and violence because they are mistaken for the stereotypical Middle Eastern terrorist. This documentary looks at the treatment that Sikh taxi drivers have endured since 9/11 and their resilience in overcoming these hardships through faith, compassion and pride in their culture.

Maid in America • Sunday, November 23

An intimate look into the lives of three Latina immigrants working as nannies and housekeepers. These women's stories vividly reveal how immigrants are redefining their roles, and the film underscores the vital role they play in many American households.

Attention LCPS Teachers: Re-certification points are available for this program. (One point per hour with a six point minimum.)

Walking is Overrated!

with Matt Glowacki

ASHBURN LIBRARY • 7:00 PM

RESCHEDULED:
Saturday, March 21st, 2009

Does having no legs mean you are handicapped?
When you meet Matt Glowacki you will quickly learn that this word does not apply. Matt owns three successful businesses and represented his country in international athletic competition. Matt maintains that people are only limited by their own perceptions. Matt is not here to preach, but to teach and to give an entertaining and enlightening presentation.

letter from the director

In the past two months, Loudoun County Public Library has experienced an 18% to 20% increase in usage. The library's comfortable and stimulating environment offers a wide variety of electronic and print resources, knowledgeable staff, professional programs, art exhibits and so much more making it a desirable destination and a valuable community resource that welcomes all ages.

Take a look inside and you will find offerings that include a four-part film and scholar-led discussion series about immigration, a presentation by a "motivational powerhouse" who was born without legs, Cherokee storytelling, musical performances ranging from Ragtime to Klezmer and a two-time Parents' Choice Award winner who encourages our kids to sing loud, jump high and dream big. Attend a program and join us in embracing the diversity of our ever-growing community.

Explore the many avenues to information offered at Loudoun County Public Library. Pages, our bimonthly publication of programs, events and services is available for you to pick up at all seven library branches. Our website, library.loudoun.gov is open to you 24 hours a day, seven days a week. You will discover hundreds of electronic resources including blogs, online book clubs, downloadable DVDs, online homework help, and databases where you can find the information you need to research your varied interests.

We welcome you and hope you visit us often in person and online at library.loudoun.gov.

We look forward to seeing you soon,
